Covid Liberation

With face to face meetings soon to be allowed outdoors and indoors, it is entirely a matter for each therapist to decide with the client what delivery mode to adopt. It is interesting that the success rate over the year of on-line sessions has remained at about 80%. But, we increasingly need to know on Pragmatic Tracker what delivery mode you are using on each session, because we are soon to be reaching an opportunity to run a funded research programme.

Pragmatic Tracker

I urge everyone to use Pragmatic Tracker, and to follow the tutorials and guidance provided by Bill. Please use this link for his latest message about intervention selection, which will be very valuable to future research.

Beyond Six Sessions – Policy

As most of you know we offer an initial course of up to six sessions. However, the increasing prevalence of early life trauma often indicates complexity requiring more than six sessions. If more sessions are thought necessary, to arrive at an agreed planned ending, the procedure is to ask at around the fifth session, for the number of extra sessions thought necessary; and please make sure the session notes are complete so that a determination can be made. Please do this by email to Karolina, and quote the client number.
